Does filing only apply to certain territory (territories) or certain classes? If so, specify:

The base rates for bodily injury, property damage, comprehensive, collision, medical payments, family compensation, and uninsured motorists bodily injury coverages are being adjusted for all territories.

In addition to territory base rate changes, where a territory was previously made up from non-contiguous zip codes (zip codes which are not geographically adjoining), the territories have been renumbered so that territories are only made up of adjoining collections of zip codes. Exhibit 1 displays the current and proposed base rates by coverage. The following table lists the noncontiguous territories being renumbered, and the detailed zip codes definitions of the territories are given in the manual in the Rating Territory Schedule.

The adjustment being made to the driver class factors to reintroduce the student away at school discount only impact those driver classifications that qualify for the discount.

Brief description of filing:

Base rates are being changed in all territories for bodily injury, property damage, comprehensive, collision, medical payments, family compensation, and uninsured motorists bodily injury coverages. Additionally, territory labels are being adjusted so that non-contiguous zip codes no longer have the same territory numbering. Finally, the student away at school discount, inadvertently left out of rating with our September 8, 2005 filing, is being reintroduced.
